DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-8, 12-14, 24 and 25, drawn to a method of eliciting an immune response by administering a nucleic acid in utero, classified in class 424, subclass 278.1 and class 514, subclass 44.
- II. Claims 9-11 and 15-23, drawn to a method of eliciting an immune response by priming with a nucleic acid in utero and boosting at birth, classified in class 424, subclass 278.1.

If applicant elects this group, applicant is required to elect a boosting composition from A or B:

A) the boosting composition is a nucleic acid (claims 10, 16, 19)

B) the boosting composition is a subunit (claims 11, 17, 20)

Claims 9, 15, 18 and 21-23 are linking claims and will be examined upon the election of either A or B.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions A and B are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to different molecules. The composition of A comprises nucleic acid residues while the composition of B comprises amino acid residues. Each of the molecules have different modes of operation, different functions and have different effects on the immune system. Therefore, each group is patentably distinct.

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to treating different subjects. The subjects of group I are in utero while the population of subjects treated in group II have completed gestation and have a primed immune system to an antigen at birth. In addition, each of the methods require different method steps and compositions required to complete each method, resulting in different effects.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. The search required for Group I is not required for Group II due to the different populations and divergent methods and compositions used to elicit an immune response. In addition, issues that may arise in examination of one group may differ.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
